

COMMUNICATE

Avoid causing a pain in the neck

PowerPoint can be harmful to your organization's health

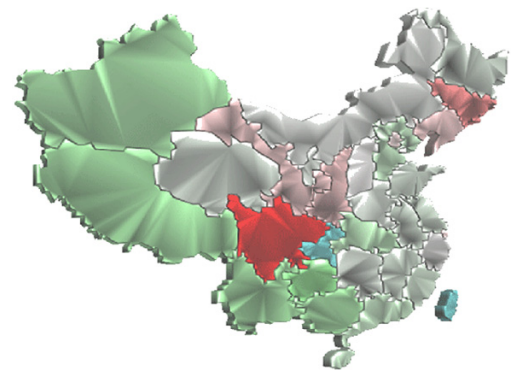

We have all experienced it – usually sitting through slide number thirty - battling to keep your eyes open as they are assaulted by yet another static slide of bullet points and charts. The world we live in is a living world. Yet, when we sit down to share our views on our world, we give each other pains in the neck as we collectively catch ourselves dosing off.

Quantum4D is a shot of adrenaline that can immunize your presentation from a painful death of communication through static presentations. Used wisely, Quantum4D can reduce the length of your presentation while at the same time provide more insight and meaning to your audience.

Better Presentations

Present your message in a more lively way

- Export movies and pictures for PowerPoint or reports.
- Send your colleagues Q4D URL's which they can open with a Q4D Viewer version.
- Create interactive narratives that let users click through multiple views.

Collaborative Work Environment

Share your data, models and views directly via Quantum4D

- Decrease the distance between your quants and traders
- Discover the benefits of a shared modeling environment
- Save time and money through reduced data management requirements

